E-INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS, MAR 18 2024

This week on the Thinking Global Podcast, Professor G. John Ikenberry speaks with Kieran (@kieranjomeara) about Liberal International Order. Prof. Ikenberry explores conceptualising Liberal International Order, the 'crisis' of Liberal Order, and how the Russian Invasion of Ukraine fits into this picture. This is the first episode in a two-part series.

G. John Ikenberry is the Albert G. Milbank Professor of Politics and International Affairs at Princeton University in the Department of Politics and the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs (@Princeton). He is also Co-Director of Princeton's Center for International Security Studies. Prof. Ikenberry is the author of World Safe for Democracy: Liberal Internationalism and the Crises of Global Order (Yale 2020), Liberal Leviathan: The Origins, Crisis, and Transformation of the American System (Princeton, 2011), After Victory: Institutions, Strategic Restraint, and the Rebuilding of Order after Major Wars (Princeton, 2001), Liberal Order and Imperial Ambition: American Power and International Order (Policy, 2006), and so many more. Prof. Ikenberry has authored 130 journal articles, essays, and book chapters. Prof. Ikenberry's latest article for International Affairs, 'Three Worlds: the West, East and South and the competition to shape global order' is also discussed.

Lastly, this week we have another Open Letter Competition. The best entry will be read out on next week's episode. Please do email your answers (no more than 300 words) to the following question to: thinkingglobal.eir@gmail.com. This week's challenge seeks to answer the questions: What is the most necessary shift in policy or collective approach required to address climate change and why?

Alongside that, we always enjoy hearing from you! Which Thinking Global Podcast episodes have you been listening to? Which articles on E-International Relations have you enjoyed reading? What are you currently publishing on? Send us your letters to the email address above and have them read out on the podcast!
